Ivy Tech Community College launches Center for Leadership Excellence

Ivy Tech Community College Southern Indiana is launching a new professional development project through its Center for Leadership Excellence.

The corporate and community leadership training program brings together professionals in a collaborative, innovative environment designed to develop future leaders and improve the skills of those already in leadership positions.

The Center's six-month training program includes classroom instruction and supplemental assignments geared towards each student's individual needs and experience.

The Center for Leadership Excellence begins with a self-assessment and personal development plan geared towards individual needs and skills.

The first training module starts in January 2008.

For more information contact Dr. Marilyn Faulkenburg at 246-3301, extension 4151 or call toll free at 1-800-321-9021. Go online at www.ivytech.edu/sellersburg.

Ivy Tech Southern Indiana is part of the Ivy Tech Community College system. It offers associate level degrees in nursing, computer, business, technology, public services, healthcare, education, and design fields. It also offers a variety of transfer degree options in general studies and liberal studies areas of concentration. The campus had a record enrollment during the Fall 2007 semester with more than 3,900 students.
