

LIBERAL ARTS

The Associate of Arts and Associate of Science in Liberal Arts are transfer programs that provide you with an opportunity to complete the first two years of study leading to a bachelor's degree in liberal arts areas. Articulation agreements have been established with all public, four-year universities in Indiana so that if you complete your associate degree, you may fulfill the requirements for a related bachelor's degree in an additional two years of full-time study at the university.

Degrees & Certificates Offered (Wabash Valley Region):

Associate of Art (AA)

Associate of Science (AS)

POINTS OF PRIDE

- ▶ The Liberal Arts program plays host to a number of on campus programs for immersing students in learning about their world. Past examples include hosting the Remnant Trust Collection of rare books, a themed semester devoted to books and reading, exhibits from the National Library of Medicine, a "Hoosier Historians talking about Hoosier History" speaker series and an exhibit from the Indiana State History museum. Annual events include a poetry reading, a speech contest, an art show and participation in the Big Read program.
- ▶ Our Liberal Arts faculty are leaders in the state with many serving on state boards and leading state initiatives.

- ▶ Our Liberal Arts faculty are active and important figures in their field. They have published poetry and novels, written textbooks and authored scholarly articles. Liberal Arts faculty have spoken before national and international audiences in a variety of venues and conducted research in Israel, Belgium, South America and the United States including major centers of learning like the National Institute of Health, Yale University, UCLA and the University of Iowa.
- ▶ Groups of students have traveled to La Ceiba, Honduras, to study Spanish and volunteer.
- ▶ The Liberal Arts program has received a number of awards including a major grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities to establish a Center for Humanities and Medicine.
