Congratulations! You have completed the Ivy Tech Knowledge Assessment!

Your scores will be used to help you and your advisor determine your placement and your next steps.

Your advisor will help you move forward with your options for class registration, so please meet with him or her regarding your Knowledge Assessment results.

PLEASE NOTE: these scores are for reference only and might not reflect all placement options. You should discuss your score ranges and course selections with your advisor.

What are my course options?

Self-Placement

If you did not place into a college ready course, you can self-place into a co-requisite or preliminary course to better prepare for college ready courses. Self-placement is often a good choice for students who have been out of school for a while and might need the additional support of a co-requisite course or a preliminary course to brush up on concepts and reacquaint themselves with skills needed to succeed in college ready courses.

Ivy Prep

When you completed the Knowledge Assessment, EdReady set up a learning path for you.

This learning path is designed help you work on the fundamental skills you need to be ready for the next level of classes. You have the option to complete the learning path modules and place into the next level of math, reading, and/or writing. Working toward completing your learning path(s) is called Ivy Prep, which is often a good choice for students whose assessment scores were very close to college ready course placement.

After you meet with your advisor and you determine that Ivy Prep is the right choice for you, contact Darla Crist to get started in Ivy Prep:
